

To simplify the initial submission process, please follow the basic formatting guideline below:

- Times New Roman size 12, double-spaced
 - End of article reference page with full citations in Chicago Style
 - BOOK: Rodney, Walter. How Europe Underdeveloped Africa. London: Bogle-L'Ouverture, 1972.
 - CHAPTER IN BOOK: Lorde, Audre. "Coal." In New Black Voices: An Anthology of Contemporary Afro-American Literature, edited by Abraham Chapman, 291-292. New York: NAL/Penguin, 1972.
 - ARTICLE IN PRINT JOURNAL: Crowder, Ralph L. "The Historical Context and Political Significance of Harlem's Street Scholar Community." Afro-Americans in New York Life and History 34(1) (2010): 34-71.
 - Footnotes (at bottom of page), not endnotes; with brief relevant text and/or citation of Author's last name and year of publication only
 - Rodney, 1972
 - Rodney, 1972 (1) --- when more than one document from the same author & year is used
 - No in-text citations
 - You should submit your document as .doc
 - Include a short (100-200 word) abstract to supplement your piece
 - Please provide 5-10 keywords for your article
 - Article length: We place no boundaries on the length of your work, as long as the content is sufficiently guided and relevant throughout. Consult with an editor.
 - Do not include a cover page or your name on document itself
-